Quality Control

The Lawton Group is intensely aware of the Government's requirement for quality construction that adheres to plans and specifications. Our self-certification for quality is achieved by utilizing the three phase quality control program as implemented by the USACE, including Preparatory, Initial and Follow-Up phases. This methodology is implemented by our on-site Quality Control Manager who creates daily reports and conveys any quality issues to our CEO.

Safety

Safety is our top concern at The Lawton Group. We employ the EM-385-1-1 as the basis for our Safety Policy. We also have weekly safety meetings as required by our safety program and discuss safety issues with all personnel, including subcontractors. We also employ 30 hr. OSHA safety officers.

Design/Build

Our architectural and engineering design professionals are intimately familiar with government regulations and design specifications to create conceptually sound designs for both horizontal and vertical construction.
